

ALASKA DOES NOT WANT YOU TO SEE THIS PHOTO*

Photographic evidence of Alaska's aerial gunning program designed to increase prey populations by killing wolves and bears.

Alaska does not want you to know that their aerial gunning program is not based on science.

Alaska does not want you to know that in one area where they are killing wolves, they are also now having to cull an excessive moose population.

Alaska does not want you to know that they targeted wolves that were part of a long-term scientific study conducted by the National Park Service and funded by the federal government.

*Despite Alaska Department of Fish and Game's copyright claim, this photograph is a public document legally obtained through state public records law, and Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund's display of this photograph to educate the public concerning Alaska's predator control program is legally protected under the copyright doctrine of "fair use."

Now that you know:
Restore science to wildlife management before it's too late.

SUPPORT THE PROTECT AMERICA'S WILDLIFE (PAW) ACT to end the unfounded aerial gunning of wolves and bears.

Want to know more?
www.defenders.org/aerial\_gunning

Paid for by Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund

